COX PREACHES GOSPEL OF LEAGUE HERE

CECIL FROWNS ON IRISH POLICY

Joins in Denunciation of Great Britain's Stand

ATTACKS POLICE REPRISALS

Demands Immediate Probe Into "Grave Charges"

LONDON.—(By Associated Press.)—Denunciation of the government's Irish policy by the liberal forces of the country represented by the recent statements of Viscount Grey, former premier Asquith and Viscount Morley, seems likely to grow into a formidable movement. The latest recruit is Lord Robert Cecil, one of the most respected of the Unionist leaders, who has joined Viscount Grey in a letter to the press calling for an investigation by a constitutional tribunal as to whether the government is responsible for the reprisals.

The letter begins by referring to Premier Lloyd George's Carnarvon speech as assuming that the reprisals have been confined to shooting by police of those reasonably suspected of an intention to attack them or who had been incontrovertibly guilty of the murder of their fellows. It proceeds:

WOMEN DRIVEN OUT

"That is a very incomplete account of the reprisals as reported in the press. It is alleged on apparently overwhelming evidence that the armed forces of the crown have for months past systematically burned or destroyed buildings and other property in towns, villages and farms in Ireland; that they have fired rifles and thrown bombs at random, killing and wounding the inhabitants and driving women and children of all ages and in all conditions of health in terror to the hills and mountains.

"These acts undoubtedly were committed in revenge for horrible outrages perpetrated in the districts concerned, but they have not been confined to the individuals who have been guilty of such outrages. On the contrary, the victims have included Protestants and Unionists who used to be the bitter opponents of the Sinn Féin.

"It is further alleged that the policy, which produced the results, was sanctioned by the ministers of the crown, including the prime minister himself. These are grave charges and require full, open and immediate investigation by a constitutional tribunal."

EXPERT EMPLOYED

Gas Man Will Make Report on Conditions Here

E. E. Brownell, gas expert of Dayton, Ohio, was employed by the board of directors of the Lima Chamber of Commerce and the joint committee appointed by council Wednesday night, to make a hypothetical valuation of the property of the Lima Natural Gas Co. and a survey of the field, and make recommendations as to an equitable rate to the consumer. The expense of the work is to be $500, and will be borne jointly by the city and the Lima Chamber of Commerce.

Brownell told the committee the Lima Natural Gas Co. should be allowed a return of 8 per cent or a little more on the physical value of its property plus 3 per cent depreciation. He said the capitalization of the company should not enter into the matter at all.

He predicted that it is only a matter of a short time until Lima will have to pay a natural gas bill, and advised that natural gas be kept as long as possible.

TEN LIVES SAVED

Reprieves Granted at Chicago—Three of 13 to Hang

CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press.)—Reprieves or stays of execution for all but three of the 13 men who had been sentenced to hang here Thursday or Friday have been granted and Thursday Frank Campione and James Henry Reese, negro, awaited the gallows. Frank Zagar is under sentence to hang Friday.

Campione was convicted of the murder of a saloon keeper, and Reese was found guilty of killing his wife with a hatchet. Zagar was convicted of killing two Greeks. Effort to have him adjudged insane proved futile.

Chief of Police Garrity, in discussing the reprieves for 10 of the convicted men, issued the following statement:

"The fact that all but three of thirteen murders have slipped their neck from the noose is an invitation to the gunmen to go back to their profession.

"In my opinion the big reduction in murders this year, recently made the subject of a report by the Chicago Crime Commission, is in part the result of 13 hanging sentences which served as warnings to the gunmen.

"When the gunmen, who are watching these carefully, see the final result of the sentence, they may be expected to smile at the law and begin murdering again."

ADMIRATION AND HOME, THINGS WOMEN LOVE

Miss Beulah

Rush, 526 S. Central-ave, has been awarded the first prize in the "What Do Women Love" contest run by The Lima News during the last week. Miss Rush's answer to the query, published below, was chosen because of its good thought, its legibility and neatness. Scores of answers were equally as good in substance, but they were not expressed clearly and in some cases, hardly readable.

MISS BEULAH RUSH

Here is her answer:

"To really and truly love a thing is to feel that it is absolutely essential to one's happiness and every woman knows, but rarely admits that her greatest desire is to be lovedly and to be loved."

"From girlhood jealously guarding her charms, improving upon nature when possible, she yearns for admiration and appreciation from the opposite sex. A mutual attraction ripening into love raises her happiness to the nth power and makes all other desires fade into insignificance or vanish altogether. In husband, home and family, the true woman finds just what every normal woman loves."

The winners of the other eight prizes are as follows: Second prize, $5.00, awarded to Elia Mack, 508 S. Central-ave. Third prize, $3.00, awarded to Nettie Kaplan, 734 W. High-st. Fourth prize, $2.00, awarded to Louisa Byrnes, 608 W. Spring-st. Last five prizes, $1.00 each, awarded to the following: R. D. No. 7.

Mrs. C. S. Carter, 845 W. Market-st. Mrs. Lawrence Kunkleman, 123 E. McKinney-st. Mrs. E. Warren, Berryman addition. Mrs. Henry Green, 128 N. Jackson-st. The winners can receive the cash prizes by calling at The Lima News office.

BOOKMAN SPEAKS ON WELFARE

Urges Centralization Work in Address in Lima

That the centralization of all welfare organizations of the city under one head will result in an increase in the budgets and a notable decrease in the cost of raising funds was the declaration of C. M. Bookman, executive secretary of the Cincinnati Community Budget, in an address before 150 members of the Lima Chamber of Commerce at their forum luncheon at the Knights of Columbus building Thursday.

"Great community problems in the past have been left to individual effort," Bookman declared. "As a result of his lack of concerted effort he declared the state of Ohio has been running at large 10,000 feeble minded persons for whom no care has been provided by the state. He declared the juvenile courts, the penitentiaries and industrial schools for boys and girls are filled mainly from this class.

Bookman declared that in Cincinnati, many of the welfare organizations paid as high as 15 percent of the total amount of money collected for conducting the drives in which it was raised. Some, he said paid as high as two-thirds. Under the centralized federation he declared the entire budget was raised last year on the interest of money on deposit by the federation from the previous year.

Music was provided at the luncheon and it was well attended, despite other attractions in the city at the same hour.

A meeting is to be held at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium Monday evening, October 18, for the purpose of outlining a plan of organization of the welfare organizations in Lima. The week of November 3 has been set as tentative date for conducting the consolidated drive, according to Secretary Irving B. Lincoln, of the Chamber of Commerce.

CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press.)—Five election officials, four of them women, have been removed from office by the board of elections commissioners, after hearing complaints of six women members of the Three Arts club, who on Tuesday were refused the right to register, it was said Thursday.

The officials discharged were Democratic judges, both women, a Republican judge, Republican woman clerk and Democratic woman clerk.

The commissioners announced they would place on the registry books the names of the club women who are students of music, art and the drama.

BOY PAYS HIS DEBT OF GRATITUDE IN FIGHT TO SAVE BENEFACTOR'S SILVER

OMAHA, Neb.—Lawrence Westover, 16, boy scout, has paid part of his debt of gratitude to C. R. Jewell, whose family gave him a home last year after he had been found trudging along on a country road near Omaha.

Returning from school Wednesday the boy found a burglar sack- ing the family silverware. After arming himself with a knife he fought and finally routed the intruder, but not until he had been cut twelve times. None of his wounds, however, are serious.

CHECK WORKER PICKED GROCERS AS HIS VICTIMS

Two alleged forged checks of $26.50 each were cashed in Lima Monday by a well dressed stranger who picked grocers as his victims, it was learned Thursday.

A rubber stamp of the Lim Brass Foundry Co. was used, and the name of Joseph White was signed. Both checks were on the First National Bank and made payable to James R. Wallace.

G. W. Hensler, grocer, 318 N. Main-st. at whose grocery store one of the checks was cashed, said his delivery boy cashed the check. When asked why he cashed the boy told Hensler the man was a "well dressed man," and wore a green silk shirt, leading him to believe the check was O. K. Official of the bank declined to give the name of the grocer who cashed the other check.

Hensler said he notified the Lima police department Wednesday afternoon.

PROBE OF LIQUOR 'RING' STARTS

Grand Jury Begins Investigation of "Whiskey Trust"

CONFESSIONS OPEN WAY

Member Makes "Clean Breast" of Illegal Traffic

CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press.)—Walter Sadler, New York broker, whose confession of participation in illicit whiskey selling activities on an enormous scale sent federal authorities throut the country on a hunt for other members of the alleged "ring," was to appear Thursday before the federal grand jury to repeat the story he told authorities.

Reports that his confession had been made public too soon brought forth rumors that important witnesses had been able to escape, but this was denied by government officials. They said all the men named by Sadler were being watched night and day. District Attorney Clynne, however, said there had been a "leak" in making public the announcement of the confession, and declared efforts were being made to find out who was responsible.

"CLEAN BREAST" MADE
I have made a clean breast of the matter to federal authorities," Sadler said. "My statement to them covers about 40 pages of typewritten matter. I expect to tell the grand jury substantially the same story, perhaps a little more in detail."

"There are men mentioned in my statement whose names have not yet been made public. I have been warned they will try to reach me with offers of money or with threats of reprisal. I haven't any statement to make about that except that I'll go thru."

REGISTER FRIDAY OR SATURDAY

Last Chance for Those Who Have Not Yet Qualified

Men and women of Lima will forfeit their right to vote at the November election if they fail to register either Friday or Saturday.

The registration, with the exception of those few who may be excused from registering, will be completed Friday and Saturday.

The places of registration will be open from 8 a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 9 p. m. on both days. The last chance for registration under general provisions is at hand. Those who did not embrace the opportunity on other registration days are urged to look after that important duty either Friday or Saturday.

It is expected that there will be a preponderance of women among those who register on Friday and Saturday, since a great many of the new voters are enfranchised voters failed heretofore to qualify.

A concerted educational campaign amongst the fair sex is being carried on by both the major parties. Between 15,000 and 16,000 registrants is expected as a result of the totals for the last two days being added to the number who registered previously.

HOME IS BROKEN

Harvey MacCauley Blames Supposed Friend

A supposed friend of the family, who made frequent calls at their home, was the means of creating discord, according to allegations made by Harvey MacCauley in a suit for divorce from Grace MacCauley, in court Thursday.

MacCauley, in his petition, says that while living in Bloomfield, New York, prior to April, 1919, his wife became enamored of this friend and later continuously spent her time with him.

He states they attended picture shows and places of amusement together, and that she permitted him to call at their home, in his absence. When he protested, he declared she told him she thought more of the other man and would marry him if she could.

Tina Hites asked divorce Thursday from Homer Hites, Logan-co., to whom she was married in Belle Center in 1904. They have three children. Mrs. Hites says he is of a quarrelsome disposition and that she lives in constant fear of bodily injury. She says she has provided many years for the comforts of life for herself and children.

PEACE AND GOOD WILL ON EARTH IS THE DOCTRINE OF DEMOCRATIC LEADER

Thousands Hear Governor Cox as He Invades Home State

ADDRESS HERE INSPIRING

Well Received at Van Wert and Delphos Today

Thru Ohio Thursday, Governor Cox told home state crowds that he was "preaching the gospel of the League of Nations" as the outstanding issue of the campaign.

His reception in Lima was wonderfully inspiring. Hundreds were assembled at the Pennsylvania station to greet the Governor, waiting patiently, as the train was an hour late on the trip to this city from Van Wert. The thousands packed into Memorial Hall heard one of the most inspiring addresses ever delivered from a platform in Lima. Governor Cox's stirring words aroused the very soul of men and women as he dispelled one by one, the Republican objections to the League of Nations and presented it in a manner that left no room for doubt. The Governor was presented here by L. E. Ludwig, president of the Cox Club.

THOUSANDS HEAR ADDRESS
Hundreds of people, unable to gain admission to Memorial Hall, stood outside, eagerly endeavoring to hear the ringing voice of the Democratic leader as he drove home his innumerable arguments in favor of the Democratic cause. It was one of the greatest meetings ever held in Lima and it is conceded on all sides that the Governor's visit did more damage to the Republican cause in this unit of the Ohio commonwealth than anything that has heretofore occurred during the campaign.

AT VAN WERT

Lehr E. Miller, chairman of the Allen-co. Democratic executive committee; Calvin Selfridge, chairman of the central committee; L. E. Ludwig, president of the Cox club; Mrs. Ross Mullen, chairman of the women's organization in Allen-co. and F. W. Durbin and James F. Burroughs, of Van Wert, were in the city where they met the Governor's party and accompanied them to Lima. Questions regarding the League were asked by parties in the audience at Van Wert, upon the invitation of the Governor. He was asked how the League would enforce its mandates. He replied by stating that the Monroe doctrine embodied the same idea as the League and that not a shot had been fired in nearly 100 years in its maintenance.

Fully 5,000 people assembled at City Park in Van Wert, where the Governor was introduced by D. B. Asor.

AT DELPHOS
Public and parochial schools were dismissed and many factories suspended operations, that workers and pupils might hear Governor Cox at Delphos. He spoke for 30 minutes from the rear of the special train and his speech, the greatest enthusiasm for his sharp attacks on opponents of the covenant.

"I have found that the tide for the League has been coming in so rapidly in Ohio," the Governor said, "since Senator Harding's Des Moines declaration. Let's be done with 'Wiggle and Wobble.' The Governor in sharp tones, declaring that Senator Harding has taken eleven different League positions, said:

"That's where it deserved to be placed, right beside the pictures of the reactionaries and the traitors." Advocating League membership for all nations, Governor Cox stated that "Germany already has made unofficial application for membership" and he predicted that Mexico would within a year.

Mayor E. L. Jauman introduced the Governor to his Delphos address. Judge John F. Lindeman accompanied the Cox party from Delphos to Lima and George W. Kohn made the trip from Van Wert to this city. J. H. Goeke, F. W. Durbin and others accompanied the Governor to Delphos after the Lima meeting.

MANY WOMEN PRESENT
At Van Wert, Delphos and Lima the big crowds cheered and applauded the Governor and hundreds of women crowded forward to shake his hand and pledge their support.

Tears coursed down the cheeks of women as they heard the story of the sacrifices of the war, spoke of the War Mothers and as he gave assurances that under the League of Nations there would be little possibility of future wars.

With no physical evidence of his strenuous campaign, Governor Cox swung into the fray in Ohio with vim and vigor.

LOAN IS SOUGHT
Trustees of the Second-st. M. E. church have applied in court to mortgage their church property for $4,000, to pay the purchase price of a parsonage. Trustees are Leroy and Walter Wetzel, Jr., James Potter, Charles Klinger, George R. Riddle, George Brothers, Fred Fox, O. W. Stewart and Elvin H. Eyer.

U.S. MANSION FORT AGAINST PLOTS

Mexican Leader Pays High Tribute to White House

MEXICO CITY.—(By Associated Press.)—Charges that the "petroleum intrigue has been unable to reach the white house and has turned its attention to the department of state, which is overrun by lobbyists representing interests working against Mexico in petroleum, political and diverse other matters," are made by Roberto Pesqueira, personation representative in the United States of Provisional President de la Huerta, in a statement issued Wednesday night. This statement, said Senor Pesqueira, embodies a report he will make Thursday to the provisional president.

BACK FROM U. S. TOUR
Senor Pesqueira, who is also Mexican financial agent in the United States, with headquarters in New York, has just returned to Mexico City after a two months tour in the United States. Incidentally, his report denies that any friction exists between him and Fernando Iglesias Calderon, Mexican representative in Washington.

The report made public by Senor Pesqueira asserts that there are two main groups in the United States which are most active in opposition to Mexico. The first of these groups, it declares, comprise "the coyotes," including the speculators and money brokers who "have acquired ill-gotten gains under the various factions which have contended for power in Mexico but are now banished by the new order of things in Mexico, and who have flooded the Washington hotels and state department corridors in unceasing hostility to Mexico."

"The second group, the report alleges, comprise 'an association of operators' which has also carried on an active campaign against Mexico, but which has shown a willingness to wait until Mexico decides her petroleum difficulties equitably."

The report starts by saying that Secretary of State Coby and Under Secretary Davis are "friends of justice," proceeds with a eulogy of President Wilson and refers to the white house as a "fortress which towers above human fallings and meshes of intrigue."

MYRICK FOR COX

Editor Quits Republicans to Support Democratic Ticket

NEW YORK.—(By United Press.)—The Democratic national committee Thursday announced that Herbert Myrick, who claimed to be a Hoover Republican, would support Governor Cox on the league of nations issue. The committee made public a letter from Myrick, who is an editor of farm magazines, in which he charged Senator Harding had broken down the structure of returning confidence at home and abroad.

It was also announced by the Democratic committee, that other former Republicans would support Cox, including Mrs. Mabel Choate, daughter of the late ambassador to Great Britain, Charles P. Howland, president of the Public Education League, and Professor George B. Adams, of Yale.

League of Nations One of Three Great Documents

SENATE OLIGARCHY ATTACKED

Says Republicans Would Keep People in Ignorance

Several thousand people heard Governor James M. Cox, the Democratic nominee for the Presidency of the United States, in a remarkable address at Memorial Hall, beginning at 11:45 Thursday and continuing for an hour.

The fighting, brilliant, tireless and progressive governor of Ohio, the standard bearer of his party, presented to the assembled people a message that was more in the form of a religious message than it was an appeal for support for a political party or a party nominee.

PREACHING PEACE ON EARTH
"Forget that you are adherents of a political party forget that I am the nominee of a political party. I come to you as the religious spirit that has possessed the soul of America. I am preaching peace on earth, good will toward men, of which the angels sang when the Saviour was born. I want to talk to your consciences in the consideration of the greatest question of the century. What is your duty to your country and to the world? It is almost sacred a question to be considered in a political campaign, but it was forced into politics by a senatorial conspiracy."

"I ask you before your God whether you can consistently support any proposition except an enduring peace in the world. The League of Nations is the composite of the spiritual thought of the world."

CHEERS AND applause of a sincere character greeted the profound thought of the Governor as he explained the League of Nations, facing it apart in the entry for critical inspection, explaining away with indisputable truth the objections that have been voiced against it, and denouncing in the most emphatic terms the senatorial conspiracy against it. No more convincing arguments were ever heard in Lima in behalf of an document.

"The League of Nations is one of three of the greatest documents of all history," the Governor said. "They are the Magna Charta, the Declaration of Independence and the League of Nations of the world."

EXPLANATION CONCLUSIVE
His explanation of the League was most of conclusive. Employing simple but indisputable evidence to shatter the objections of the hostile Republican leaders in the senate, Governor Cox had no difficulty whatever of convincing his hearers that the fault finders have set up a house of cards, a straw man, a bug-a-boo in opposition to the League.

"They don't want the people to read and understand the League of Nations," Governor Cox said, "for they know that if the men and women of the land know its meaning and understand that it is against war and peace, they will vote to endorse it. That is what the senate oligarchy and their candidate fear."

"Senator Harding has taken so many positions on the League that his followers are weary; they are tired, they are disgusted. The tide is turning and will continue to turn until on election day. I firmly believe the spirit of America will assert itself. We cannot and will not turn our backs on a suffering, agonized world. The League of Nations is the Monroe doctrine extended to all the world. That is there is to it. And can you find any American who is against the Monroe Doctrine?"

FAVORS GOING ON
"I intend to go on preaching the gospel of peace on earth, good will to men, while the others may preach the gospel of Cain if they desire. I am my brother's keeper. I am in favor of going into the League of Nations of the world."

The thousands of people of Lima and Allen-co., who heard the wonderful address by Governor Cox at Memorial Hall, even the most ardent Republican could do no more than admit that the League is a salvation of the peace and security of the world and that it will more to prevent future wars anything that has ever before been presented to the people of the world.

The Governor addressed an assembly of railroad employees at the Pennsylvania depot, from an automobile, after his arrival in Lima at 11:20 a. m., stating that he wished to say a few words to them, as they would be unable to attend the meeting at Memorial Hall.

DEFENDS RAIL WORK
He defended the work of the railroad administration during the war and gave unstinted praise to the railroad employees who played a wonderful part in the second line of defense in transporting the munitions and supplies of war, and moving the soldiers from the training camps to the seaports.

GOV. COX SPEAKS IN LIMA

Governor spoke his appreciation of the many school students who came out to hear and see.

Governor Cox spoke as follows: "The forthcoming campaign carries an especial significance in that it comes at a time when the eyes of the world are upon America for leadership. The decision made will register America's place among the nations of the earth, either as a helpful factor in leadership, or as a nation which is willing simply to take its place in the ranks."

NOT A PARTISAN CAMPAIGN

"I am not making a partisan campaign this year. I think upon reflection you will agree with me that in every crisis that has arisen in this country, the independent thought of the country rose above and engulfed the party wall. I come to you from the Great Western country and I found out there that men and women are thinking solely of the honor of the country; that their thought is that of patriots and not that of partisans. Let us dedicate our thought to the consideration: What is our duty as Americans? And let us ask ourselves whether we should not strip ourselves of every consideration, as the soldier boys did in the face of their great duty; every consideration except our duty as Americans, because while the partisan spirit has run high through the years, we are in the last analysis Americans first, and in that spirit I desire to counsel with you."

VISITS YOUR FRONT PORCH

"In the early part of this campaign I made up my mind to go before the people and visit as many communities as it would be humanly possible for me to do so. I sensed, as I thought, the spirit of the institutions of a free government. I realized that the sovereign power was with the people and I decided that I would go to them. I would have held myself a trespasser on the properties of the hour and the spirit of our institutions if I had remained at home and asked you people to journey there and sit upon my front porch for the purpose of ascertaining what my mental attitude might be on questions that are vital. REACTIONARY REPUBLICANS IN CONTROL

"I think I can with full propriety ask the men and women of all political parties whether we can't agree in this—that the leadership of the Republican party has been assumed by the same old crowd that Roosevelt ran out of the trenches in 1912? I ask whether it is not also true that this crowd—the members of the Senatorial oligarchy—did not write the Republican platform, and whether it did not nominate the candidate for the Presidency? I ask you in all seriousness, because I have no controversy with the rank and file of the Republican party. My contention this year is against the members of the Senatorial oligarchy, which formed and has maintained until this hour the most reprehensible conspiracy against the civilization of the world that this planet has ever witnessed. REPUBLICANS SUPPRESSING FACTS

"I ask you what response would have come from that great soul of Abraham Lincoln had he been confronted with the issue this year? I ask you what he would have said not only with respect to the conspiracy against the civilization of the world, but the conspiracy which has been formed by the reactionary influences supplemented by the purse and power of Big Business in America to prevent the facts and evidence from going to the jury this fall. Is it not a significant thing that in the Republican campaign book you do not find published the text of the League of Nations? Is it not true that the men and women of America want the facts? They want to know the origin of the covenant. They want to know its basic principles. They want to know its form. They want to know whether it does or does not trespass upon our sovereign rights. They want to know whether or not we can send our boys can be sent overseas. In short they want to know whether it does or does not establish a new order in the affairs of the world and whether it is or is not true that the objections that have been registered against the League of Nations are political and capricious and mischievous.

PROGRESSIVE AGAINST REACTIONARY GOVERNMENT

"The Chairman of the meeting in his very generous and gracious speech referred to me as a Progressive. I am proud to be a Progressive. I am proud to feel that I recognize the difference between the progressive and the reactionary in government. The Progressive believes and realizes that government is a thing of, by and for humanity, and that humanity is a thing of flesh and blood, of hope and aim and aspiration and spirit and soul, and that if we are to keep the confidence of the great mass of our people in our government, government must continue to be responsive to the heartbeat of the heartbeats and the needs and desires of the great mass of our humanity."

"Radicalism will always follow a reactionary administration, and I make to you this prediction—that four years of reactionary Government at Washington under the control of the Senatorial oligarchy will bring to you in this state more than a mere matter of human regret. One extreme always follows another. It is a law of nature and our political experiences in the past have simply confirmed that law."

STANDS FOR NEW ORDER

"The old order in the world won't do. It has been a great failure. Under it has come over night because it recognized the principle of the divine right of kings and it had the authority without consulting the will or wish of men and women of the nations to order the sons of men into the trenches of battle. I stand for a new order in the world. I am opposed to the old order because it has not only been a great failure but it has brought to the sons of men the tragedies which can no longer be justified in the eyes and light of a modern civilization. If the new order for which we ask your support in this campaign had been adopted in the world ten years ago, 51,000 boys that sleep today in France would be a part of our civilization. Ten million men that were lost under the old order of things would be of the living body of this generation. I cannot understand how the men who deliberately and mischievously and hypocritically oppose the League of Nations can sleep nights. I should think that dreams would be disturbed by the sufferings of millions and millions of children whose bodies have been seared in the furnaces of the great war; more than that, I should think their sleep would be disturbed under the spiritual eyes of the 51,000 brave American boys who died that war in the future might be made impossible."

CAUSES OF WAR

"I want to go into the League of Nations with you; I want to show you just how simple it is, and I want to convince you how you have been misled. I have found in an easy matter to present the basic principles of the League. It is based upon the primary objective of preventing war. The men who perfected it discerned the symptoms of disorder in the world and applied the remedy along common sense lines. Reduced to a few words the causes of war in the past have been:

First: The seizing of territory by one nation from another by force.

Second: The practice of secret treaties between nations, under which a local controversy is apt to involve a dozen nations.

Third: The immense national armaments.

Fourth: The power of monarch or their diplomats to precipitate war over night.

The curative measures contained in the League of Nations are these:

First: Article X of the League is nothing else except the international commandment: "Thou shalt not steal."

Second: All treaties made between nations in the future must be filed as public documents with the League of Nations.

Third: A systematic and gradual process of disarmament is provided to apply to all nations alike.

Fourth: Differences between nations which in the past led to war are to be submitted to discussion and arbitration for a period of not less than ten months.

CONGRESSMEN ALOVE CAN DECLARE WAR

Those are the four causes of war and there you have the provisions against them. I shall now take up the objections that have been raised against the Covenant. First of all you have heard it said that under the League of Nations our soldiers will in all probability be ordered overseas every time they have a controversy over there. Every school boy and girl in America knows that there cannot be a declaration of war except by the Congress of the United States. You cannot change the Constitution of the United States without a three-fourths vote in the Congress and an approval by three-fourths of the states of the Union. No League can send our boys to war; no president can do it; Congress alone can declare war, and Congress has a new boss now. The mothers of America will have something to say about governmental policies in the future. The mothers of America know what war is better than the men.

OBJECTIONS TO LEAGUE ANSWERED

"Now what is the power of the League? It has no authority to declare war. You cannot make a treaty—and this is a Treaty—which runs in contravention to the Constitution. Suppose that trouble arises in the world and that it is brought to the attention of the League. It is submitted to the Council which has nine votes, America having one of them. There can be no action taken by the Council unless every vote is in the affirmative, and if it is proposed to make some disposition of a question, America's vote could determine the whole thing, because unless America voted 'aye' there could be no determination whatsoever. Suppose that the Council, in the face of some situation, votes unanimously and expresses its opinion that there should be no action taken. Our representatives simply advise the President: 'This is the case; these are the facts and this is the express and unanimous judgment of the Council.' The policy that must be determined finally will be determined by the American people thru the Congress. The League of Nations is based upon the idea that a higher moral impulse has taken hold of the soul of mankind."

MONROE DOCTRINE

"You have heard it said that the League conflicts with the Monroe Doctrine. What is the Monroe Doctrine? Simply a pronouncement made by President Monroe that there should be no external aggression of Central or Southern America. At that time they said why should we be interested in the peoples of Central and South America? They said we should be compelled to go to war every year or two to enforce the principles of the Monroe Doctrine. The Monroe Doctrine has been a vital instrument for almost one hundred years and yet in that time we have not been compelled to resort to arms once to maintain it because the moral strength of America was behind it. The League of Nations embodies the same principle against external aggression in the world that the Monroe Doctrine does in South America. The moral purpose is applied behind this great instrument, and with America as a member of the League it is extremely doubtful whether force will ever be necessary in working out its administrative policies any more than force has been necessary in maintaining the Monroe Doctrine on this continent."

IRELAND

"You have heard it said that the League runs counter to the hopes and desires of the Irish people. For seven hundred years Ireland has tried to be free and she has not been able to bring her case before a Squire's court. Thru the League of Nations, under Article 11, her case can be presented before the bar of public opinion of the world, and if she should gain her independence and become a member of the League of Nations she will be afforded the same protection from external aggression under Article X as the other nations of the world."

PREACH CREED OF SELFISHNESS

"The Senatorial candidate is now out in the open and his creed is 'America and America only.' To preach such a gospel of selfishness is an offense to the decency of America. Such a proclamation of provincialism is little short of treason to our traditions. If our nation were to heed the pagan counsels of the reactionary candidate, we might as well confess ourselves a pagan people; we might just as well close the doors of all our churches; we might just as well make a bonfire of our Bibles; we might just as well begin now to train our future citizens to believe that greatest among us are those who recognize selfishness rather than service as the creed of America. I am not my brother's keeper' was the creed of the Christ. Are we to turn our backs on suffering humanity throughout the world and isolate America for 'America only'? The founder of Christianity preached the doctrine of mutual service, affirming the duty the strong owe to the weak and the duty that those who are happy and prosperous owe to those who are sad and to those who suffer. I have no fear that America will hesitate on which course it will pursue."

LEAGUE ENDORSED BY ALL CHURCHES

"At all the great religious gatherings held in America during the past two years the League of Nations Covenant has been approved. Practically every denomination has joined in endorsing the principles contained in the Covenant. The Methodist Church was first in its meetings in Des Moines; and the Baptist National Association was next; then the Presbyterian General Assembly meeting in Philadelphia followed; then the Triennial Episcopal Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church meeting in Detroit; then the National Council of Congregational Church, Meeting in Grand Rapids; the Unitarian General Conference meeting in Baltimore; the Christian Church of Disciples meeting in Cincinnati; the Council of Jewish Women of America; and then the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America—made up of practically every religious faith—endorsed the League, and Pope Benedict, head of the Catholic Church in his last encyclical said these words: 'Once the League among the nations is founded on the Christian law in all the regards of justice and charity the Church will surely not refuse. A special reason for forming this society among the nations is the need generally recognized of reducing, if it is not possible to abolish it entirely, the enormous military expenditure which can no longer be borne by the States in order that in this way murderous and disastrous wars may be prevented.'"

VOTE AS AMERICANS

"These are the facts with reference to the League of Nations. I ask you only to consult your consciences, because after all it is the voice of God and if you then the mandate will have been so impressive that politicians in the future will know better than to stand in the way of normal development of civilization, and free government of and for and by the people will have been vindicated. War will have been rendered practically impossible and the Mothers of America can contemplate the future with the security they have known."

This is the first of a series of educational lectures to be given at the meetings of this association during the winter, according to Secretary James Morton.

Thirty members of the Retail Credit Association discussed the question "Whose Check Shall I Cash?" at an enthusiastic dinner meeting at the Barr hotel Wednesday night. The discussion was led by Howard P. Dean, of the Lima Trust Co.

Included were Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Henner and two children, 116 Washington-st.; Thomas W. Rees and daughter Miss Adeline Rees, 619 Woodward-ave.; Otto Henner and wife and Henner's father and his family, all of Ada, who will make their home in California.

Others who made the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wright and Mrs. Jagger, West Cairo, and Mr. and Mrs. Val Kohl, Lima, who will spend the winter in the golden west.

IN SIX AUTOS

The party made the trip in six automobiles, there being seven drivers and two auto mechanics among the men of the party. They took with them camping outfits and if the weather permits, will camp out nights, doing their own cooking. Restaurants and hotels will only be resorted to in case of absolute need. They plan to camp Thursday night on the outskirts of Indianapolis.

Twenty days will be consumed in making the trip of 3,900 miles, with good weather. They will go by way of Kansas City and southern Kansas, and strike the Santa Fe trail. A day will be spent in seeing the sights of Colorado Springs.

Mr. Rees is a retired farmer, who sold his large farm holdings near Gomer last spring and moved to Lima. Mr. Rees has two brothers in the state. He expects to enter business there.

He and Henner had planned the trip, when others of the party heard of the automobile caravan and accompanied them. Five large Studebaker cars and one Buick carried the party. One hundred and fifty pounds of baggage was allowed for each person on the trip. Henner was in the automobile business on W. H. St. before deciding to locate in the west.

It was the eleventh time he has voted for president and he said he did not wish to fail this time.

F. O. Henner and wife, who were of the party, failed to register and did not vote.

LINCOLN RESIGNS

Committee Is Named to Report on Successor

The resignation of Irving B. Lincoln, secretary of the Lima Chamber of Commerce, was accepted by the board of directors, effective November 19, at a meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce offices Wednesday night.

While both Lincoln and members of the board of directors of the chamber declined to make statements Wednesday previous to the meeting, it was generally expected Lincoln's statement at the beginning of the Chamber of Commerce membership drive would be followed by this action.

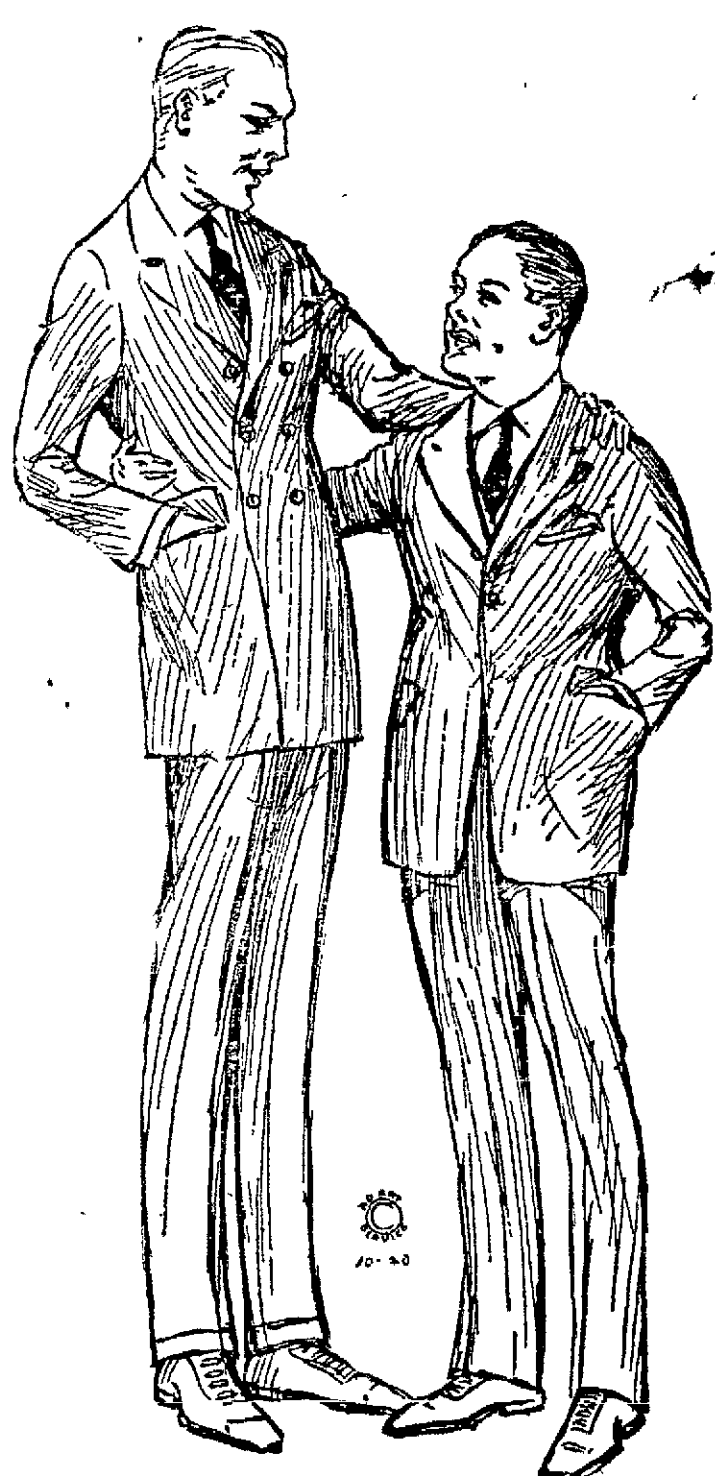

It is understood no definite arrangements have been made for a successor to Lincoln. President George Bayly was authorized by the board Wednesday night to appoint a committee to make investigations and recommendations for a new secretary.

DATE FOR DRIVE SET

The week of November 8 has been tentatively set as the date for the united drive for the welfare organizations of the city, it was announced by Secretary Irving B. Lincoln of the Lima Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

TWO ARE FINED

Fred Davis, 26, 1129 E. High-st. and T. M. Ackerman, 29, 702 E. Market-st were each fined $25 in criminal court by Judge Emmett J. Jackson Wednesday afternoon, after pleading guilty to charges of drunkenness.

Men of Robust Appearance

Some men are just a little—or—stout, and others, let us say, are a trifle underweight.

But we have the sizes for the stout chaps and the thin ones. We know that all men are not blessed with perfect figures, like the handsome young men in the movies.

If You've ever worried about finding the right size in good clothes, worry no longer.

THE LEAGUE AND PEACE OR HARDING?

THE tide has turned. No less a Republican personage than Herbert Parsons, of New York, national Republican committeeman from 1916 to 1920, publicly denounces the proposed betrayal by the senate oligarchy and announced his determination to support Cox on the League of Nations.

Now comes J. D. Dort, president of the Dort Motor company, of Flint, Mich., a lifelong Republican, with a donation to the Democratic campaign fund and the announcement of his refusal to acquiesce in the great betrayal of the cause of the boys of '17.

Note the reasons given by Dort for breaking with the party that has been tied hand and foot by the sinister senatorial clique:

"Enclosed please find my check for $250 for your campaign fund.

"I might say that my affiliations have always been with the Republican party and except for its stand on the League of Nations covenant as set forth in its platform this year and Mr. Harding's position on this question and his declared willingness to the establishment of peace with Germany by resolution of congress, independent of and prior to the senate's ratification of the peace treaty, I would not think of voting otherwise than for the Republican standard bearer, but believing conclusively that America should become a party to this covenant upon same basis that would be accepted by all the other nations parties thereto, and believing that this question dominates all others either domestic or foreign, I am impelled by conscience to assist in supporting the party and voting for the nominee whose stand is clear upon that question.

Thus Mr. Harding has another answer to his Des Moines speech.

Mr. Parsons is a politician—but he has a conscience.

Mr. Dort is a business man—and he has a conscience as well as party.

These are men of sufficient prominence to assure publicity to their refusal to join in the great betrayal. And among men of this type the end is not yet.

Thus has Senator Borah by his rugged refusal to be tricked or to be the party to a trick forced the hand of Mr. Harding, and after all these weeks of double dealing compelled him to make a declaration of intentions that even Mr. Taft cannot interpret away.

He is in favor of a separate peace.

He is opposed to making any attempt to enforce the observance of the terms of the armistice. And he is unalterably against this or any other League of Nations—against it as it has been accepted by forty-one nations—against it with any amendments or any reservations.

And that makes the issue plain—beyond the possibility of confusion by the sophistries and chicanery of politicians who have taken the position that any Republican is justified in leaving his party to support the league, and who have been trying to deceive their followers.

Thus we enter the last month of the campaign with the atmosphere cleared—with Harding against any League of Nations and with Cox in favor of going in.

Thus for the first time since the nomination of Mr. Harding the campaign is pitched upon a plane where we may intelligently cast our votes to enter and maintain the League of Nations, or to join Russia and Turkey in the scrapping of the first serious effort in the world's history to put an end to wars.

MISS LIMA: "The luster of Babe Ruth's crown isn't dull in the sun just because he isn't in the world series contest."

TIDE IS TURNING

REPUBLICAN leaders, notably Warren G. Harding, have apparently forgotten Shakespeare's immortal words: "To thine own self be true and it must follow, as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man."

The peak of hatred and calumny injected into the campaign by the Republican national committee has been reached. Reaction against falsehood and inexcusable hatred has set in all over the United States. One feels it in the air; hears it upon the streets as he goes to or from his work; reads it even in the Republican newspapers, where efforts have been made to hold the reactionary line against the forces of progressivism.

"Let's be done with wiggle and wobble," reads the Republican posters and the full page advertisements in the magazines and newspapers. All right—suppose we do. The Democratic party says to the citizenship of the United States that its policy for peace, progress and prosperity will maintain the standards already raised and lead the country on to greater heights of happiness and achievement.

Warren G. Harding, wobbling between Taft on the one hand and Borah on the other, finally rejects Taft and cleaves with a tenacity that is amazing to the "irreconcilable" element in his party. He brushes away with one blow every tradition of the Republican party. He has alienated millions from his cause. He has played false with principle and a great moral issue. He is riding to a fall if justice prevails over ignominious deception. Truth must triumph over falsehood and gross misrepresentation.

The forces of reaction seek to come trooping back into power and selfish domination after a long absence from authority. They should instead go down in ignominious defeat in November.

LESS OHIO FARMS

THAT the number of farms in Ohio has decreased from 272,045 in 1910 to 256,699 in 1920, is revealed by an announcement from the census bureau. This is a loss of 15,346 in the ten year period or a decrease of 5.6 per cent. In 1900 there were 276,719 farms in this state.

Ohio now ranks sixth among the states in number of farms. Texas, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina and Missouri surpass it in the order named. In 1910 Ohio was fifth, exceeding at that time North Carolina, where the number of farms has increased from 253,725 to 269,740 in the past ten years. In 1900 Ohio was third among the states in the number of farms, ranking next to Texas and Missouri.

Twenty-four of the 48 states have fewer farms now than they had ten years ago. Most of these are northern states, with New Hampshire having the largest percentage of decrease, 24.1. The biggest decrease numerically was in New York, where there are 22,537 fewer farms than there were ten years ago. Pennsylvania had the second largest decrease, 17,039, during the ten years, and Ohio the third largest decrease.

Montana had the largest increase, both numerically and in per cent. The state now has 57,441 farms, compared with 26,214 in 1900, an increase of 51,227 or 119.1 per cent in the last ten years.

Texas, the largest state, has the most farms, 435,666. In 1910 Texas had 417,770 and in 1900, 352,196 farms. Nevada has the fewest farms, 3,164, more than 17 per cent. in increase over 1910. Rhode Island has 4,084, a decrease of 22.8 since 1910.

JUST A GIRL

A DISCOURAGING TIME

Things were going along beautifully. We had made a little more than our expenses from the very start, and now were earning more than either of us ever had, although we only took out $3 a week as our salary. This was due to a suggestion made by Mr. Pope. He had said:

"In a partnership business it is always better to draw a regular salary. Then what is left can be applied to the extension of the business, or saved against the time it might be needed."

We had adopted his suggestion at once, and had every reason to be gratified. I was taking the same salary I had at the restaurant and the store. Mary was not getting quite as much as she had as head waitress, but she was perfectly satisfied to let everything over and above the $3 go back into the business.

"It's as good as to go good for you two! I get nothing at all out of it. I suspected I might have to be a carryin' you for a bit, and here you are makin' money like a pair of old hands at the pancake business," Mrs. Fagin grumbled, delighted that we had made good.

But her delight as far as I was concerned, was to be short-lived. In some way I contracted a bad cold; it settled on my chest, and while I dragged myself to the shop every day, I felt far from well. Then one day I fainted. They took me home and put me to bed—"pneumonia," the doctor said. I was ill for weeks, but dear Mrs. Fagin refused to let them send me to a hospital.

"Sure, the poor dear can't afford a private room, and she is better off here with me than in a ward with every Tom, Dick and Harry around her," she had had her way, and I stayed in my own little room.

Mary had to hire another girl to help, but even so, she made money. So I lacked for neither medical attendance or nourishing food.

"I said I'd pay you for pawnin' your jewelry some day," she told me when I said she was spoiling me. "This is part of the pay."

When I was better I made Mother and Aunt Susan a visit. I felt at first almost as if I were in heaven, so calm and peaceful was it. Mother and I had so much to talk over.

But I could see that my coming to them had stretched Aunt Susan's resources to the limit. She was proud and would accept no board from me, although Mary sent me my $3 a week regularly. I had to have a physician and medicines for some time, and Aunt Susan said if I attended to all the rest, she guessed she could board me—that I didn't eat more than a bird anyway.

Had she allowed me to have what she and Mother had, I would have been but little added expense. But she was constantly getting me extras, hoping to build me up more quickly.

When I became strong enough to go out of doors, I was delighted. I loved to potter about the flower garden, and to decorate the house with the lovely blooms. I never had been in the country, the real country for any length of time before. As a child, when Dad was alive, we always went either to the mountains or the seashore. So everything was new and interesting to me.

One rainy day I rummaged in the attic. What a delightful place I found it! Quaint old furniture—battered beyond repair some of it; old-fashioned clothes—things Aunt Susan had as a girl, and which for one reason or another she had stored away; pictures of relatives—some of them also distant relatives of Mother's; bags of herbs—all sorts of odds and ends were there.

I had almost finished my search for entertainment, and was about to go down stairs and ask dozens of questions about some things I had discovered, when in a corner back of an old washstand, I found a typewriter. No miser ever gazed over a bag of gold more than I did I over that machine, so unexpectedly found. When I removed the cover I found it was in excellent condition, and a popular make, if it was an old model—as I afterward learned.

Altho I was still weak, and it was heavy, I laid down all my other treasures and carried the typewriter down to the sitting room where Mother and Aunt Susan were fixing up my clothes for me.

"Everything must be in order when you go back and I have always called a rainy day mending day," Aunt Susan said when I objected. Tomorrow—Aunt Susan Tells a Story

HEALTH HINTS

HERE'S A SCOTCH VERDICT

Letter from a reader: "A friend of mine was taken with severe pains in the upper abdomen on a Wednesday night. She felt nauseated, but did not vomit. She had also severe headache. She refused to call a physician because an old woman of the neighborhood assured her that the illness was entirely due to getting her feet wet. I warned her that it was nonsense to imagine that wet feet could 'vrit' any one. But she believed what the old woman said about it and would not call the doctor. Well, it proved disastrous for my friend. . . . My husband used to believe all sorts of rubbish about changes of weather. Getting wet, giving one cold. But he got rid of all his foolish notions when he joined the Canadian army and endured all kinds of hardships in France. Many a time he was 'wet thru' and had to let his clothes dry on him. He slept in dugouts and in the mud and snow and never had a cold."

"I come from Glasgow, Scotland, and there were eight children in our family. My parents had not the means to give us many clothes to wear, and we received only the plainest food and not too much of it. Yet we all grew up strong and well."

What did I tell you? Will some old foggy doctor who still thinks it is a bit of adventure, getting feet wet, or one of any age, chronologically speaking, point out for our benefit why the soldiers suffered no alleged cold while in the trenches, exposed to the severest wet and cold as they were?

YOUR NAME

By PHILIP FRANCIS NOWLAN

VARIATIONS — Burward, Dorman, Dorman, Dorman.

RACIAL ORIGIN — Norman-French and Anglo-Saxon.

SOURCE — An occupation. As might be suspected, the family name of Porter had its origin in the occupation of porter. Title, however, would really be a better term than occupation, for in the middle ages, under the Norman-French feudal system, the porter was a person of military importance.

In those days the world had none of its modern meaning. The porter was not a bearer of burdens. He was the military officer in charge of the guard at the gate, or "port," of the castle. The Anglo-Saxon equivalents of this title were "dore-ward" and "doorman" (door-ward and doorman), and family names developed from them are frequently met with.

But the name of Porter is far more widespread today than the others, and there is a reason. There was a period of two centuries or more in England in which the Norman conquerors spoke only French, the language which they brought across the channel with them, and Anglo-Saxon was spoken by the conquered population. The nobility, of course, was almost without exception of the former race. Hence in the castles, where the porters' duties lay, only French was spoken, and naturally the language which they brought across the channel with them, and Anglo-Saxon was spoken by the conquered population. ARTIFICIAL GAS RATES GO UP

Company Will Provide Bond to Protect Consumers

New schedule of rates for artificial gas service, increasing the price from $1.10 per thousand to $1.80 will go into effect at midnight Thursday, it was announced by L. R. R. Curran, President of the Lima Gas Light Co. The service charge of 25 cents will still be charged under the new schedule.

Following announcement of the public utilities commission Wednesday that the new schedule of rates would be suspended for 30 days upon protest of the city of Lima, Curran declared the gas company will furnish a bond, the amount to be named by the public utilities commission, for the protection of gas consumers in case the commission fixes the rate lower than the one named in the schedule.

No date had been fixed for the hearing Thursday, according to City Solicitor Garling. He said he was in communication with the public utilities commission Wednesday by telephone but the date had not been decided.

"Kidney Troubles Vanish," Says Dr. Carey

Bladder Weakness, Dropsy, Gravel, Backache or Any Tendency to Bright's Disease or Even Diabetes

Don't flush your kidneys with harsh makeshifts says Dr. Carey, they are too frail and delicately constructed to treat them rough.

For 40 years I have been prescribing Marshroot for kidney and bladder troubles and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health.

If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffs under eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or sideache you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marshroot right away. It has conquered thousands of cases of kidney and bladder diseases and is the medicine you can always depend upon for quick results. Hunter's Drug Stores.—Adv.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS Study It Each Day In The Lima News

ARTICLE EIGHTEEN

Every convention or international engagement entered into henceforward by any member of the League shall be forthwith registered with the Secretariat and shall as soon as possible be published by it.

ARTICLE NINETEEN
The Assembly may from time to time advise the reconsideration by members of the League of treaties which have become inapplicable and the consideration of international conditions of which the continuance might endanger the peace of the world.

ARTICLE TWENTY
The members of the League severally agree that this Covenant is accepted as abrogating all obligations or understandings inter se which are inconsistent with the terms thereof and solemnly undertake that they will not hereafter enter into any engagements inconsistent with the terms thereof.

In case members of the League shall, before becoming a member of the League, have undertaken any obligations inconsistent with the terms of the covenant, it shall be the duty of each member to take immediate steps to procure its release from such obligation.

EXPLANATION
"So far as Great Britain is concerned, it is the Year One for 'Treaties.' Mr. Balfour used to say in Paris when asked how the Japanese would take the articles of the League Covenant doing away forever with secret understandings and private diplomacy. Therefore, when Article 20 was proposed by the PRESIDENT of the United States, abrogating all existing treaties not consistent with the League prohibition of secret diplomacy and private alliance, the British supported it vigorously. Article 20 makes it absolutely impossible for members of the League to have secret obligations for war and concludes the great peace achievement begun by Article 10 and carried through all of the Covenant.

The members of the League severally agree that this Covenant is accepted as abrogating all obligations or understandings inter se which are inconsistent with the terms thereof, and solemnly undertake that they will not hereafter enter into any engagements inconsistent with the terms thereof.

In case members of the League shall, before becoming a member of the League, have undertaken any obligations inconsistent with the terms of this Covenant, it shall be the duty of each member to take immediate steps to procure its release from such obligations.

The Democrats offer this Covenant of peace to the people of the United States whose sacrifices and successes made its promulgation possible. The Republicans oppose it and propose instead a separate peace with Germany, still odorous with the stench of her frightfulness of 1914-1918.

LIMA IS TO HAVE A STRONG FOOTBALL TEAM THIS SEASON

CHAMPION BALL PLAYERS DESERT CLEVELAND FOR THEIR HOMES IN ALL SECTIONS—CENTRAL HI STARTS TICKET CAMPAIGN

SIGNALS CARD GAMES WITH STRONG TEAMS

Present indications are that Lima this year is going to have one of the strongest independent football teams in northwestern Ohio.

Former gridiron stars recently assembled and discussed the matter of organizing a team to represent the city. After an investigation of several days, they met again and it was then definitely decided to issue a call for all players interested to meet.

They had—about 30 of them—as a result, the Lima Signals will formally organized and about 25 candidates reported for first try-out last Sunday morning at the Murphy-st park.

Since then practices have been held each night in the gymnasium on the Y. M. C. A.

Several players who are backed by a good reputation in professional circles have signed up and will be seen in action with the Signals here at an early date.

It is the primary object of the Signals to play as many games as it is possible in the city. In order that they may play a few smaller teams before tackling those of state-wide reputations, games have been arranged with Delphos and Fostoria.

Their first game will be played

WILL BABE RUTH SMASH 70 HOMERS NEXT YEAR TO EQUAL HIS GAINS

Like any other appetite, the baseball appetite always wants more.

Having feasted on his frenzy of home running hitting, fandom is concerning itself now on the output of Babe Ruth's bat next season.

"How many will he get in 1921?"

fans asks and wonder.

Babe, with 34 clouts for the season's work came within four of doubling his 1919 record.

Will he do the same thing next year?

One hundred home runs in a season is beyond the wildest stretch of imagination, but there are already many who are willing to take a sporting chance for a small roll that Babe will approach the 70 mark.

Ruth is a remarkable player, the greatest slugger the game has ever known and the greatest drawing card in the history of American sport.

His record of fifty-four homers crowds far into the background the best marks of all the old times when home run hitting perhaps was not the difficult task of the present day. His record may stand for all time. It is sure that no other player in the game today can come within twenty of it.

Last winter Colonels Ruppert and Huston gave the baseball world a hint with the announcement that Ruth had been added to the New York Yankee roster after $125,000 had been paid to the Boston Red Sox. Baseball whippersnappers shook their heads and questioned the wisdom and business sagacity of the spendthrift Yankee bosses.

His 1919 record made him a valuable addition to the club, but "he can't repeat the pitchers will get his number," the fans said.

It looked early in the season as if their dope was right. Babe failed to produce any sizeable clouts during the pre-season barnstorm in the south and his slick likewise failed to work early in the season. It seemed as if the American League pitchers had finally found the weakness of the king slapper who had been pronounced invulnerable.

But the Babe finally got started. He was "first" again while he was breaking his 1919 record of twenty-nine and when he was approaching the fifty mark, a point that had caused thousands of dollars to be wagered. Baseball has come to Babe for granted in that he is doing nothing out of the ordinary for him. He is expected to hit home runs and he does it.

Next year he will, of course, arouse the same mid-season interest when he begins to shoot at his 1920 record.

Speaking of pitchers getting his number—every pitcher in the American League tried and failed.

He fanned on a slow curve and killed it the next time it was tried on him. He fanned on a low ball and knocked it out of the park the next time. He always ruined a fast high one.

Herb Pennock of the Red Sox, was the particular victim of Ruth.

Discussing his career with the "demon slugger" at the Polo grounds one day last summer, Pennock said:

"I tried a curve on the outside once and got him. The next time I tried it he nearly knocked the corner off. Again I got him on a slow back of two fast ones. The next time he rapped it into the stands brighter as American teams of the future will become more and more distinctive collegiate outfits.

America has the talent, has the best system of athletics in the world, the most adept pupils and with a little more attention on the part of the officials in charge of the governing bodies of athletics, there is no need of prying into 1924 in search of dark clouds.

NEW YORK.—"America is thru. The athletic crown worn so long by the United States is destined for another head in the Olympic games of 1924."

This boast was made in Antwerp by the Finns and the Swedes following the late Olympic contests, which the Americans were overwhelmingly victorious.

The failure of the Americans to "clean up" in the track events above the sprinters and the foreign experts to draw the conclusion that the new generation of Yankee athletes lacks confidence and stamina.

It is a matter of record that the Americans did fail to take any of the distance events with the exception of the 3000-metre team race, won on the last day of the games.

But the conclusion of the European critics that the poor showing was the result of a decline in the physical powers of the new school of American athletes is wrong.

The American distance runners did not sweep the track as did the sprinters, because they had no opportunity to train. The time was so short before the opening of the games, the conditions so disagreeable on their trip to Antwerp, and the weather so abominable that they were the victims of unavoidable circumstances. The Swedes, and the Finns, whose power was noted in the long distance runs had the advantage of two weeks in Antwerp previous to the opening of the games during which they were able to use the stadium track daily and get acclimated to the peculiar weather conditions.

It is a fact that America had a harder time to win the 1923 games than she ever had before and it is a foregone conclusion that she will have much stiffer opposition in 1924.

Seizing upon the showing made by the American distance men, the foreign nations, especially, Sweden, Finland and England are going to set out to develop new talent in the field and track events in which the Americans were able to make the cleanup that gave them victory.

America's task before the next games will be to develop a new school of distance runners and to find youngsters to take the place of Pat McDonald, Paddy Ryan, Matt McGrath, Dan Ahern, Mike Donovan, Ted Meredith and some others of the "old school" who showed in the last games that they are thru.

The Swedes, and the Finns, whose power was noted in the long distance runs had the advantage of two weeks in Antwerp previous to the opening of the games during which they were able to use the stadium track daily and get acclimated to the peculiar weather conditions.

It is a fact that America had a harder time to win the 1923 games than she ever had before and it is a foregone conclusion that she will have much stiffer opposition in 1924.

Seizing upon the showing made by the American distance men, the foreign nations, especially, Sweden, Finland and England are going to set out to develop new talent in the field and track events in which the Americans were able to make the cleanup that gave them victory.

America's task before the next games will be to develop a new school of distance runners and to find youngsters to take the place of Pat McDonald, Paddy Ryan, Matt McGrath, Dan Ahern, Mike Donovan, Ted Meredith and some others of the "old school" who showed in the last games that they are thru.

NEW YORK.—"America is thru. The athletic crown worn so long by the United States is destined for another head in the Olympic games of 1924."

This boast was made in Antwerp by the Finns and the Swedes following the late Olympic contests, which the Americans were overwhelmingly victorious.

The failure of the Americans to "clean up" in the track events above the sprinters and the foreign experts to draw the conclusion that the new generation of Yankee athletes lacks confidence and stamina.

It is a matter of record that the Americans did fail to take any of the distance events with the exception of the 3000-metre team race, won on the last day of the games.

But the conclusion of the European critics that the poor showing was the result of a decline in the physical powers of the new school of American athletes is wrong.

The American distance runners did not sweep the track as did the sprinters, because they had no opportunity to train. The time was so short before the opening of the games, the conditions so disagreeable on their trip to Antwerp, and the weather so abominable that they were the victims of unavoidable circumstances. CHAMPION PLAYERS DISBAND; LEAVING FOR ALL PARTS

CLEVELAND — Members of the champion Cleveland baseball club began to disband Wednesday and by tonight most of them will be en route to their homes in various parts of the country. At least seven expect to winter here.

"Bill" Wambegans and George Uhle are residents of Cleveland. Elmer Smith and Jack Granly usually spend most of the of season here.

"Doc" Johnson has taken over a billiard room here for the winter and Steve O'Neill and Ray Caldwell expect to enter the automobile business.

Manager Tris Speaker, after a week fishing in Canada with Catcher Les Nunamaker and other friends will return to Texas to look after his business interests. Nunamaker will join him in Hubbard, Texas, and the two will hunt and fish for several weeks on the Gulf of Mexico.

WOOD TO BOUGH IT Stanley Coveleskie, after a brief visit to his home in Stamokin, Pa., will join Outfielder Joe Wood, in a hunting trip. Wood will spend the winter felling trees, hunting and fishing in New Jersey.

Jim Bagby returns to his business in Augusta, Ga.

Larry Gardner is going back to Enosburg, Vermont, where he has a big garage and repair shop. Charles Jamieson will sell groceries in Patterson, N. J.

After visiting his family in Mississippi, Dr. Joe Evans will resume his work in a St. Louis hospital. In flier Harry Lunte also returns to St. Louis.

Chester Thomas will go to Los Angeles, where he expects to be connected with a moving picture company. George Burns returns to his home in Philadelphia and Joe Sewell to Tuscaloosa, Alabama, where he will complete his college education.

CENTRAL HI IS SELLING TICKETS

Season tickets were put on sale Wednesday after a rousing mass-meeting held at Central High. The Athletic Association numbering almost 1,000 students is behind the ticket campaign and will push it to the limit.

This year Central will follow the custom of the larger schools in staging a ticket campaign among the business men of the city. It is thought that a number of men are interested in the team and will buy whether they are able to see the games or not.

Coach Dietrich has strengthened his lines in the past two weeks and now feels confident that it can block the strong Findlay team.

Guard is still a weak position but Dietrich has announced that he will probably use Mitchell and Fritz A. these are two good men the holes made by Bowling Green will not be there when Findlay tries them.

Crit Taylor was given a chance the first team last night as quarterback since Carl Young will not be to play on the team for some.

It is probable that Crit will have a chance in some of the big only Manager Fred Wallace has been coaching the second team every night recently and has developed a strong opposition for the first team.

South Hi will have a stiff practice tonight and put the finishing touches on their machine tomorrow. That they will defeat the strong Findlay team is expected by all football fans in the city who are pulling hard for South to start a winning streak.

South Hi's backfield and ends have developed remarkable speed and have several trick plays down to perfection. Coach Jackson is certain that brain work and open playing will win for a light team and that his team will soon prove his argument.

RECENT PLAY IS A KNOCK-OUT

"What Women Love" is Great Screen Production

IT HAS A GOOD KICK, TOO

Marvelous Underwater Scenes Are Appreciated

(By ESTHER WAGNER.)

"WHAT Women Love," starring Annette Kellerman, is a knock-out! It is perfectly easy to understand why persons admire the beautiful Annette. She's not a raving beauty in the face, neither is she an extraordinarily clever actress. But in a bathing suit—ah, that's different. The picture is a sort of comedy-drama with a lot of the water stuff besides, which provides the real entertainment. As for the plot, it goes like this:

Papa Cotton has a naughty little daughter, Annabelle, who delights in wearing gymnasium suits, not to mention bathing suits. A couple of Purty Leaguers, of which papa is a member, start a war on "indecent exposure," park their rubbers on the Cotton porch, and proceed to tell horrible tales of beach parties and one-piece swimming suits to the highly interested Mr. Cotton, all of which is lost on his daughter.

LOVER IS REFORMER

Enter sweet William, who loves Annette madly and passionately, but who is somewhat of a reformer himself and gets all tired out when his hair is mussed up and looks out on a wicked world in shell-rimmed glasses in some way. Willie conceived the idea that women love cave-men. He had no cave, but he decided to be one anyway, and hired a trainer, a gentle young brute named Captain Nelson. And so on you know he becomes strong and virile, completely overpowers and thoroughly loved Annabelle and drags her off to be married. Which all happens just as you think it will.

Marvelous underwater scenes are one of the best features of the film. And the stunts Annette goes thru under water would put any fish to shame. The interior scenes and out-door settings are some of the best ever screened, interest in the plot is remarkably well sustained, and the photography is beyond reproach. The cast, too, is unusually competent. Wheeler Oakman as Willie does splendid work, and Walter Long as Muck Nelson, the trainer, is fine.

All of which makes "What Women Love" the real goods from start to finish. It's at the Regent.

"THE HOPE" EXPERIENCE has shown that English melodrama, so long a favorite form of entertainment, can be fashioned into an excellent screen drama. "The Hope," featuring Jack Mulhall and Ruth Stonehouse, is one of this kind of pictures.

A lot of big scenes are developed throughout the play, the principal incident being an earthquake in Italy. This effect is extremely well done and serves as a means of sending the villain where he will have no further chance to plot against the hero and his sweetheart.

The director seems to have caught the atmosphere and spirit of the thing and the entire cast is neatly balanced. Miss Stonehouse, long a favorite, "comes back" in a pleasing manner, and Jack Mulhall as the aristocratic but impoverished nobleman, is very convincing. "The Hope" is being featured today at the Sigma theatre.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

These symptoms are caused by catarrh of the middle ear. If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness of head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach, or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Eucalypti (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Eucalypti should become easy while the distressing head noises, headaches, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety percent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment. Adv.

NEW YORK.—Steel, equipments, oils, copper and tobacco were the prominent features at the dull and irregular opening of Thursday's stock market, rails representing the weaker shares, Republic Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, McLean Steel, American Smelting, Goodrich and Tobacco Products made gains, extending to substantial fractions to half points. Nickel Plate, one of Wednesday's strongest features, lost one point and St. Paul reacted a large fraction. Exchange on London and Continental Europe eased slightly.

The indifference manifested by traders towards the firm trend of the money market indicated a transfer of speculation interest to the long account. Call loans opened at 9 per cent, the highest initial quotation in many weeks, but favorite stocks continued to advance. Motors, oils, equipments and sugars registered gains of 1 to 3 points, while Delaware, Lackawanna and Western was conspicuous among the rails at a six point advance.

The few backward issues included Norfolk & Western, Atlantic Coast Line, Vanadium Steel, Consolidated Gas and Acetate Steel.

Traders shifted to the long account in the stock market Thursday basing their more hopeful views on the absence of threatened money disturbances. Sales approximately 500,000 shares.

The closing was strong.

MUTT AND JEFF—WONDER WHERE JEFF PICKED UP THIS SAY?

By BUD FRIER

BRINGING UP FATHER.

By McMANUS

SHORT SHAVINGS

Mrs. Flatbush—Who is that man with the red nose you just howled to?

"Oh—Oh, he's a man I met last night." "He is certainly not a Prohibitionist, is he?" "Why, I never had occasion to ask him, dear." "But, how did you happen to meet him?" "Well, we were traveling out of Milwaukee on the same train one night. He had a bottle, and I discovered that I had a cork in my shoe."

Just in time for the postman's last call, two friends met at the mail box. By the light of the street lamp Jones saw that Blinks was looking rather the worse for wear. His nose was skinned, while a faint tinge of purple gave promise of a fine black eye in a few hours. "You've been having a rough time," he exclaimed. "What's happened?" "Nothing," replied Blinks casually. "My wife's been pelting me with flowers. That's all."

"Flowers? But what sort of flowers were they to mark you like that?" "Just the ordinary kind, only she forgot to remove them from the pots first."

A gentleman who acts as chauffeur of one of the elevators in the Widener building, in Philadelphia, was talking.

"The judge certainly did seek him," he said. "He sentenced him to three years and ten days. Now I understand the three years all right, all right, but what was the ten days for, I'd like to know?" "That was the war tax," said a quiet citizen who got aboard at the chamber of commerce floor.

Keep Your Wife Young
With an Electric Cleaner?

To the Seven Million
Housewives Who Are Now Using Mazola

MAZOLA can be used for more different purposes and at less cost than almost any other food.

It contains no water, as do butter and lard—remains always sweet and palatable, and does not absorb odors or flavors. So the same lot of Mazola can be used over and over again—a wonderful saving in any household. If you want to use it for shortening—even after frying fish or onions—you have only to strain it. It never smokes up your kitchen.

Mazola makes lighter and better cake and tastier fried foods than animal fats. And so light and wholesome they agree with even the most delicate children.

Thousands of families, leading hotels, clubs and railroad dining cars use Mazola in preference to olive oil for salads. It costs much less than half as much, and is pure, rich and wholesome.
